PREFACE

Now that we have at last completed the manuscript of this book, which was already announced in the preface to P. L. Bat. 20, I address myself with mixed feelings to the final task of writing this preface.

I do so, first of all, with a genuine sense of relief, for the work has been arduous, much more arduous than we had foreseen. Yet perhaps this was for the best; who knows if we should have undertaken the project, had we realized beforehand what problems and complications would arise?

Secondly, I am thankful that I have had the good fortune to be joined by a team of dedicated colleagues who worked extremely hard during the months when they were staying in Leiden, and who have continued their labours afterwards, in England, in Belgium, and in Egypt, in order to complete each contribution. It has been a pleasure to work together on the Zenon archive, and to discuss together its problems. Gradually we have gained clearer insights into the complexities of the material, and have come to appreciate the richness of the information it has to offer.

In the third place, we are all deeply grateful to the Leids Universiteitsfonds and the Faculty of Law of Leiden University for having provided us with the resources that enabled us to embark upon this project and that have let us bring it to a successful completion. Our thanks are also due to all those colleagues abroad who have assisted us during our work, either by giving us information about Zenon papyri to which they have access, or by making it possible for us to consult the original texts housed in Paris, in Strasbourg, and, above all, in Cairo, or by helping us in other ways, such as by drawing facsimiles for the list of abbreviations, or by providing us with evidence for the prosopography. To all of them we owe our sincere gratitude. Although it is impossible to name them all, it seems appropriate to make an exception for two of them, M. Manfredi and T. C. Skeat: we have so often asked them for information or for advice that in the end we scarcely dared write to them again.

Fourthly, I must confess to a certain hesitation, for I know quite well that the results of our work are imperfect. However, I believe that we have done what lies in our power to enable others to explore the archive and to make use of the wealth of information it contains. It will be hard, if not impossible for the rising generation of scholars to realize how despairingly difficult that has been up till now: we ourselves can remember only with an effort how daunting the archive appeared to us some two years ago.

Finally, we cannot escape a sense of sorrow, for one of the members of our team, while staying in Egypt, died in a tragic motor-accident in the desert: M. Muszynski had been the most enthusiastic of colleagues, and he was in fact dedicating much of his time in Cairo to the study of Zenon papyri and to work on his contributions to the present volume.

The aim of this volume is to recreate the original archive and to treat it, as far as possible, in the way in which any other group of closely related texts is usually treated in papyrology. Therefore, we have compiled—mainly from the existing indexes, although this has not always been possible or advisable—a “General index” of the Greek words occurring in all the documents of Zenon’s archive, as well as the usual special indexes (“Geography”, “Religion”, etc.) which we have organized so as to show as clearly as possible what kind of information the archive contains on these particular subjects. We were happy to discover that in some cases we were able to present in this way information of more general interest which is not yet to be found in the papyrological literature. I feel sure that this material, together with the Prosopography (Clarysse’s masterpiece), the chronological tables, and the surveys of the archive, will prove their usefulness in future studies of the Zenon archive, and we hope to have given a fresh impetus to such work. We pray that many scholars may be tempted by this fascinating archive in the years ahead!

The contributors are many in number. It is difficult, since they have been working as a team, to describe exactly what part each of them has had in the final result.

In the preparatory stage the material for the first chapters had to be collected, and I then had the help of three students: Monika Korver (who also participated in the next stage), C. van den Akker and A. van Straten. The principal aim of this preliminary work was to compile the list of the texts belonging to the archive and the publications that were to form the basis of our researches.

In the next period we started upon the real labour of collecting the material, and this was undertaken by a considerably larger group. At first I had had in mind a book much shorter than the present one, but it was not always possible to resist the enthusiasm of my colleagues who were continually suggesting the preparation of lists and surveys in addition to those originally planned. The names are given here of the contributors during this period, and the chapters for which they collected the material:

W. Clarysse (Belgium)	Chapters IX, X and XII
Monika Korver (The Netherlands)	Chapter XVIII
M. Muszynski (Belgium)	Chapters III (the Cairo material), XIX, XX and XXI
Annette Schutgens (The Netherlands)	Chapter XI
J. K. Winnicki (Poland)	Chapters XIII, XIV, XV, XVI and XVII

W. J. Tait (England) assisted us in many ways that are difficult to place in the list above and gathered the demotic material, while I myself am responsible for those parts of the work not already mentioned. Because the number of subjects to be dealt with had grown during this period, the work was not completely finished when the team disbanded, but Clarysse continued working on his material in Belgium, Tait in England, and in Egypt Muszynski, who, however, on his tragic death left unfinished some of his contributions, in particular his material for a subject index, which unfortunately we could not finish without unduly delaying this publication.

In the final stage the material collected has been critically examined and, whenever necessary, checked. In some chapters, where a simple alphabetical list of words with references seemed rather unhelpful, the material has been arranged in a different fashion.

Winnicki unfortunately had to leave us at the beginning of this final stage. P. W. A. Th. van der Laan, a member of the staff of the Leiden Papyrological Institute, has meticulously taken care of the huge quantity of index cards prepared by Muszynski for the General index (Chapter XX), while Clarysse has prepared his prosopographical material for publication (Chapters IX and X), and the rest has been revised by myself.

2) Ostraca (from Philadelphia)

BGU 7 1500-1562; P. VIERECK, Drei Ostraka des Berliner Museums, Raccolta Lumbroso (1925) 253-259.

These ostraca date from years 13-18 either of Philopator (210-204 B.C.) or Epiphanes (193-187 B.C.) [REEKMANS, Studia Hellenistica 7 (1951) 69 n. 2].

3) Stamped amphorae handles

Amphorae marked ZH, ZHN and ZHNΩN found at Alexandria, Athens, Korone etc. (c. 270-260 B.C.): V. R. GRACE, Notes on the amphoras from the Koroni Peninsula, Hesperia 32 (1963) 319-334; P. M. FRASER, Ptolemaic Alexandria (1972) vol. 2, p. 285-286.

There is no reason to connect them with the "Zenon" of the Zenon Archive.

4) Waxed tablets

H. I. BELL, Waxed tablets of the third century B.C., Ancient Egypt (1927) 65-74 = SB 4 7451; see EDGAR, P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.705, intr., but it is difficult to connect these tablets with the Zenon archive (cf. FLINDERS PETRIE, Ancient Egypt, loc. cit., p. 75 f.).

CAIRO, EGYPTIAN MUSEUM

Provisional numbers of papyri acquired in 1920, 1922, 1923, 1925, 1926 and 1933:

16   3	4   4	30   5	26   10	23   12	22   4
20   1	22   11	23   1	25   1	26   1	33   1

The seals are kept together in a cardboard box on the upper shelf of the "Zenon cupboard"; they have no separate JdE numbers.

The papyri published in volume 5 have been presented to the Egyptian museum; they bear no JdE numbers and are registered under their publication numbers.

Edgar seems to have given no inventory number to minor fragments that he was unable to join to any others. Nothing is known to us about the Cairo fragments published in P. L. Bat. 20 (no. 36), P. Lond. 7 (nos. 1961, 1996, 2053 and 2141), P. Mich. Zen. (nos. 12, 39, 40 and 100), PSI 9 (p. IX-X, nos. 557, 585 and 618).

ADDENDA AND CORRIGENDA TO THE TEXTS

This selective list comprises the relevant corrections printed in the Berichtigungsliste, vols 2-6, in P. Lond. 7, and in other publications, as well as some corrections of our own. Proposed corrections that are clearly incorrect, or that have been superseded, have been omitted.

The entry concerning the reading of a particular word or a particular group of words has frequently been arranged on more than one line of type. In these cases, the first line cites the reading of the original edition, and the following line or lines the proposed corrections.

The rejected words and the new readings have both been incorporated into the General index of Greek words (and, where appropriate, into the specialized indexes), and there both kinds of entry have been marked with an asterisk.

the movements of Apollonios and Zenon (compare Chapter VIII, p. 224 and 266):

Apollonios had called Numenios to Memphis for 26 March, so he was intending to stay there, probably until after the king's birthday (15 April) and the anniversary of the accession to the throne (27 April), but he suddenly had to leave, apparently on account of urgent business in Mendes;

meanwhile Zenon was staying in Bubastos (c. 16-26 March); on 7 April he was in Leontopolis (Tell el Yahudieh, on his way back to Memphis? if so, he changed his itinerary) and thence he travelled north to Mendes where he had arrived by 11 April and probably joined Apollonios; about ten days later they travelled together to Memphis where they had arrived by 23 April, just in time for the celebration on 28 April of the king's accession to the throne.

FIFTH PERIOD

TEXTS WRITTEN IN THE FIRST YEARS AFTER ZENON'S DISMISSAL AS MANAGER OF THE DOREA
(years 38-8: c. Dec. 248-240/239)

FILES OF THE MANAGERS OF THE DOREA (years 38-c. 5) <sup>6</sup>

Letters and other documents to Eukles (or to Herakleides the overseer of the γεωργία of the dorea)

- y. 39 P. Col. Zen. 2 76: acknowledgement of a debt (to Eukles + Agathokles); P. Mich. Zen. 62: agreement (made in accordance with a letter from Herakleides)
- y. 2 P. L. Bat. 20 54 (to Eukles; on the verso, draft of a letter: P. L. Bat. 20 61); P. Mich. Zen. 65 (to Eukles); PSI 6 579 (to Herakleides)
- y. 3 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.350 (to Eukles; on the verso, draft of a letter: P. Cairo Zen. 4 p. 288); P. Col. Zen. 2 84 (to Eukles), 87 (to Eukles from Apollonios the scribe; on the back, drafts of letters: P. Col. Zen. 2 88)
- to Eukles: P. Col. Zen. 2 86; P. Lond. 7 2047; PSI 6 611
- to Herakleides: PSI 6 635

Letter to Bion (succeeds Eukles in year 4 or 5: P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.366)

- P. L. Bat. 20 52

Letters etc. to persons connected with Eukles to Agathokles (associated with Eukles in Philadelphia in y. 39: P. Col. Zen. 2 76)

- y. 38 PSI 5 537 (from Eukles; on the verso, a contract: PSI 5 521; both texts are connected with the Aphroditopolite nome)

to Apollonios the scribe (owner of Eukles' archive)

- y. 4 P. L. Bat. 20 49 (from Eukles)—Apollonios checks Zenodoros' accounts (P. Col. Zen. 2 90, 19-26) and has to check the suspicious accounts of the κωμογραμματεὺς Anosis (P. Col. Zen. 2 88, 31).

Persons called Apollonios frequently occur in texts from this period:

- 1) an Apollonios receives the same sitometria as Zenon and Epharmostos (they are mentioned together in P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.569, 7-8; P. Col. Zen. 2 77 R°, 29-31; P. Lond. 7 2149, 1-3)
- 2) an Apollonios addresses Zenon as "brother": P. Col. Zen. 2 81; cf. P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.391*;
- 3) an Apollonios is the addressee of P. Col. Zen. 2 90 <sup>7</sup>

(Fifth period)

- 4) an Apollonios is the addressee of the letters P. Col. Zen. 2 109 and P. Lond. 7 2025 (fragments)

Probably all these cases refer to one and the same person, and Apollonios the scribe (p. 293, no. 14) was Zenon's brother (p. 292, no. 10).

to Zenon (Zenon's files)

P. Col. Zen. 2 91 (from Eukles; year 6)

Accounts (sitometria)

- y. 2 P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.569 + PSI 6 580
 – later than the text of year 2: P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.707; P. Col. Zen. 2 77
 – P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.699 + 700, 59.709; P. Lond. 7 2149

to Hermaphilos (οἰκονόμος): P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.345 (Zenon is mentioned) to Philon: P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.572

τοῖς ἀποδεχομένοις τὸν σῆτον: P. Lond. 7 2014 (Zenon is mentioned)

<sup>8</sup> In the course of this period (in year 4 or 5) Zenon took over the "files of the managers of the dorea".

<sup>9</sup> Zenon had an interest in the proceeds of the ἀπόμοιρα of the entire Arsinoite nome: P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.357 (year 4), 59.367 (year 6); P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.834 (year 6); P. L. Bat. 20 34.

(Fifth period)

Drafts and copies from Zenon's files

- c. y. 3 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.351: copy (?) of a petition from Zenon to the king; P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.832: draft of a petition from Zenon to the king—the copy P. Col. Zen. 2 90 sent to Apollonios, probably comes from the archive of the dorea (see below)
- y. 4 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.355: draft made by Zenon of a statement concerning a loan; 59.356: copy or draft of a formal notification to the debtor
- y. 5 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.362 V<sup>o</sup>: draft made by Zenon of a receipt for payment of rent due to his deceased brother Epharmostos
- y. 6 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.367: drafts of letters from Zenon concerning ἀπόμωρα and his vineyards

- y. 3 P. Col. Zen. 2 85 R<sup>o</sup>: contract between Asklepiades and the farmers from Herakleopolis (on the verso stands the royal prostagma of year 19)
- y. 5 P. dem. Zen. 9 + 10: fragment of a receipt or acknowledgement of a debt of wheat (in Τάμις?)

Petitions and texts related to petitions (probably from Zenon's files) <sup>10</sup>

<sup>10</sup> It is quite possible that these texts were presented to Zenon, or forwarded to him, for we know that he still possessed the authority to arrest people—see P. Lond. 7 2052 (c. year 2) and P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.368 (year 7)—and to exact debts from debtors and sureties—see P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.808 (year 7) and cf. C. Ord. Ptol. 27 (year 10); it is not known if PSI 4 394 (receipt for payment by a surety to Zenon's agent Iason in year 6) may be adduced here.

<sup>11</sup> The person to whom Zenon gave his entire archive in year 8, must have been closely associated with him; Zenon's brother Apollonios (the scribe) seems to be the only serious candidate; was he perhaps working for Achoapis (see year 13)? ## I. CONTRACTS ETC.

Nearly all the following texts come from the files of the buyer, lessor, creditor, etc. but PSI 4 385 and PSI 5 509 are from the files of the debtor. P. dem. Zen. 1 belongs to a small group of Memphite documents which it is surprising to find in the archive<sup>13 14</sup>.

<sup>12</sup> In particular, types of text have been selected which are of importance for further investigation of the question why certain texts were kept in this archive.

6. LETTERS FROM ZENON

Group of texts which it is surprising to find in Zenon's archive to Achoapis (νομάρχης)

P. Lond. 7 2019 (year 13)—this text belongs to the last period when Zenon apparently no longer possessed the archive to Artemidoros (manager of the Memphite dorea)

P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.836—see above no. 1 “contracts” note to Isingos (works on the Memphite dorea)

P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.287 (year 35)—see above no. 1 “contracts” note to Kleitarchos (ὁ ἐπὶ τοῦ σίτου τεταγμένος)

P. L. Bat. 20 56—Zenon made so many alterations in the text that he did not dispatch the letter to Krotos (agent of Apollonios and Zenon)

P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.241—the letter contains an order from Zenon to Krotos (and was perhaps returned to Zenon after the fulfilment of the order? cf. below no. 10 “orders for payment”) to Panakestor (Zenon's predecessor on the Philadelphia dorea)

P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.129 (year 29) and probably P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.546 (year 29)—third period: the letters came back into Zenon's hands when he took over Panakestor's archive at the beginning of the fourth period (Zenon still had the draft of the second letter: P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.545 V<sup>o</sup>)

to Sosos (commercial agent of Apollonios and Zenon)

P. Lond. 7 1972—the letter contains an order from Zenon to Sosos: cf. Krotos, above to Sostratos (probably Zenon's partner and friend)

P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.230—the archive contains several other letters to Sostratos (see below no. 8) and a letter to Zenon and Sostratos together (see below no. 7)

7. LETTERS TO ZENON AND A SECOND PERSON

When the address on the verso mentions only one addressee, it is possible that a separate letter was sent to the other addressee (see the last text of this group: PSI 5 524)

Axates

P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.308; verso: no address

Epharmostos (Zenon's brother, see below nos. 8 and 9)

Kriton (closely connected with Zenon, see P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.048 and below no. 8)

PSI 6 594; verso: “to Zenon and Kriton”

Nestos (joint guardian with Zenon of the sender of the letter)

P. Lond. 7 2017; verso: no address

- Panakestor* (from Apollonios: year 31, fourth period)
 P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.195; verso: "to Zenon and Panakestor"

 PSI 4 410; verso: "to Sostratos and Zenon"
Xenophon
 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.368; verso: no address
 PSI 5 524; verso: "to Xenophon" (sic; see below no. 13 note 16)

8. LETTERS TO PERSONS OTHER THAN THE PRINCIPAL ONES OF THE ARCHIVE

Many of these letters came into the archive because they were sent to Zenon's employees, agents, partners, or relatives (or to those associated with one of the other principal persons); because they were forwarded to Zenon for his information (see for example Oryas), or for further investigation<sup>15</sup>, etc.; or simply because they were left behind by visitors (see Akrisios and Apollonios the dioiketes). Some persons were so closely connected with the dorea that they received sitometria from it (in these cases we give references to the prosopography in Reekmans, Sitométrie, p. 70 ff.).

- Agathokles* (Eukles' assistant)
 PSI 5 537 (year 38)
Agroitas (witness to a contract of Zenon: P. Mich. Zen. 66, year 3)
 P. Lond. 7 2018 (year 11)
Akrisios (comes to Egypt with Zenon's father)
 P. Mich. Zen. 88 (year 33)—apparently leaves this letter behind in the hands of his host when going back home
Alexandros (ἑπάρχης, Alexandria)
 P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.057 (year 28)
Alexandros (tax-collector, Arsinoite nome)
 P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.373 (year 8)
Apollodotos (agent of the dioiketes abroad)
 PSI 4 324 (year 25)—it is not known why this letter is in the archive; cf. Hikesios
Apollonios (the διοικητής)
 PSI 5 518 (year 35)—period four: apparently given to Apollonios on the occasion of a visit to the Philadelphia dorea
Apollonios (the scribe; Zenon's brother) see period five
Aratos (employee of Apollonios in Alexandria?)
 P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.048 (memorandum with commissions for Zenon and Kriton)
Aristandros (οἰκονόμος; see also Proxenos below)
 P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.587

<sup>15</sup> This is probably the main reason why so many letters to officials were found in the archive of Zenon (see also below nos. 11-12 "petitions"); they are of importance for determining Zenon's tasks and activities outside the Philadelphia dorea.

10. ORDERS FOR PAYMENT

Orders in the form of a duplicate document (see Artemidoros and Kleitarchos below) were usually given back to the person who had given them (obviously when the accounts were settled); orders in epistolary form were apparently for internal use in the first place. Many letters mentioned in the first part of this chapter contain similar orders or requests.

— Orders:

to Agron (σῶμα in the house of Apollonios) from Zenon

P. Mich. Zen. 81

to Artemidoros (τραπεζίτης) from Zenon

P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.277 (year 35): fragment

II. PETITIONS TO THE KING

Addressed to the king but presented to Apollonios: PSI 8 976 (see verso), cf. PSI 4 383, 4; perhaps presented to Zenon: P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.460; P. Lond. 7 2039; PSI 5 541. If the petitions to the king really come from the archive, then all those which are not from Zenon himself must have been forwarded to him (see above no. 8 note 15)

12. PETITIONS TO OTHER PERSONS

A petition to a person other than the king is usually called an ἐπιστολή (see for example P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.632, 5 and P. Lond. 7 2023, 2: in both cases the petition is forwarded, perhaps to Zenon); we have therefore listed these “petitions” as “letters”. See however:

P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.236 (to Diotimos, the ὑποδιοικητής) and P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.622 (to Zenon): each text is designated in the docket as an ἐντευξις

13. TEXTS IN MORE THAN ONE COPY

Sometimes identical texts are found in the archive for reasons that are not clear

Three identical texts

the personal description, in three copies, of Thorax (a παῖς; see Reekmans, Sitométrie, p. 96 no. 153)

P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.070

P. Lond. 7 1949

P. Lond. 7 1950

Two identical texts

a pair of letters from Apollonios to Apollodotos: PSI 4 324; verso: “to Apollodotos” to Hikesios: PSI 4 325; verso: “to Hikesios”

a pair of letters from Eudemos and Herakleides to Hegemon and . . . philos: P. L. Bat. 20 76 A; verso: [“to . . . philos”?]

to Hegemon and . . . philos: P. L. Bat. 20 76 B; verso: “to Hegemon” a pair of letters from Hierokles to Zenon: P. Lond. 7 1945; verso: “to Nikanor”<sup>16</sup> to Nikanor: P. Lond. 7 1946; verso: “to Zenon”<sup>16</sup>

14. προσαγγέλματα

M. Hombert - Cl. Préaux, Recherches sur le prosangelma à l'époque ptolémaïque, CdÉ 17 (1942) 259-286.

Official notifications to the police

P. Col. Zen. 2 92 + P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.659 (year 7)

notification to a φυλακίτης of a robbery;—from Zenon's agent Dioskourides (duplicate document?)

P. Mich. Zen. 34 (year 31)

notification to an ἀρχιφυλακίτης of the loss of a donkey;—from an unknown person (duplicate document; the inner text was found sealed up with a plain clay seal)

<sup>16</sup> It may be noted that the addressees have been transposed. Cf. the letters PSI 5 524 and PSI 6 588 which bear on the verso the wrong address:

PSI 5 524 (letter to Zenon and Xenophon); verso: “to Xenophon”

PSI 6 588 (letter to Zenon); verso: “to Agenor”

Was there perhaps a second copy of these letters bearing the address “to Zenon”? See also P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.604 addressed “to Zenon”, the address “to Ptolemaios” being deleted.

PSI 4 393 (year 6)
notification to the ἀρχιφυλακίτης of Philadelphia of a theft;—from lessees of Zenon's vineyard (duplicate document)

PSI 4 396 (year 7)
notification to a φυλακίτης of Philadelphia of the theft of wine;—from Zenon (duplicate document; the inner text is very short)

Notifications to other officials

P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.384 (year unknown, fourth period) notification to the νομάρχης Timotheos of the loss of money and other items;—from Antipatros (the notification is not preserved but is mentioned in a letter to Zenon)

P. Lond. 7 1980 + 1981 (year 31)
notification to the κωμογραμματεὺς of Ammonias;—from the peasants of Ammonias complaining of being wronged by Zenon and others (duplicate document with remains of the seal)—P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.245 shows that there are several possible explanations for the fact that the notification was found in Zenon's archive

Notifications to Zenon

P. Col. Zen. 1 53 (date unknown);—from Neesis

P. L. Bat. 20 45 (fragment, date unknown);—from Stephanos

a. INTRODUCTION AND TABLES

The dating of the documents is one of the most troublesome problems that has to be faced in studying the Zenon archive. Three different calendars were simultaneously in use and for us <sup>1</sup> it is sometimes very difficult to know which one has been used in a particular case, the more so since it could happen—just as can happen today—that a scribe, shortly after the beginning of a new year, carelessly used the number appropriate to the old year;<sup>2</sup> moreover the numbers were not always clearly written,<sup>3</sup> while the dates in the docketts, as they are written on the versos of the documents, are often rather damaged and difficult to read with certainty.

See the recent survey of the problem: F. UEBEL, Die drei Jahreszählweisen in den Zenonpapyri (Proceedings of the XIV Intern. Congr. of Papyrologists [1975] 313-324).<sup>3a</sup>

The system (see the tables on the pages that follow)

1) The Egyptian (regnal) year

- the correspondence with the so-called Julian Calendar can be established with the help of the tables in T. C. SKEAT, The Reigns of the Ptolemies;
- the year consists of 12 months, each of 30 days, and 5 additional days: a total of 365 days;
- the year begins on 1 Thoth;
- the first year of the reign of a new king is the year during which he comes to the throne; it usually coincides with the last regnal year of his predecessor: year 39 of Ptolemy II = year 1 of Ptolemy III.

<sup>1</sup> The persons for whom the documents were originally written will not, of course, have experienced the same degree of difficulty.

<sup>2</sup> See for example the docketts of P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.202-204: written on new-year's day of the Mac. year 32 (59.203, 15), but mentioning the old year 31 (59.204, 8) and 31 corrected into 32 (59.202, 11).

<sup>3a</sup> See now also L. KOENEN, Eine agonistische Inschrift aus Ägypten und frühptolemäische Königsfeste (Beiträge zur klassischen Philologie. Heft 56) 1977.

2) The Financial year

- since this year is based upon the Egyptian year, the correspondence with the so-called Julian Calendar can be established in the same way, with the help of Skeat's tables, as long as it is realized that the Financial year begins some months earlier (i.e. in the course of the preceding Egyptian year);
- the year consists of 365 days;
- the year begins on 1 Mecheir; <sup>4</sup>
- the first Financial year of Ptolemy III coincides with the last one of his predecessor (as in the case of the Egyptian years).

3) The Macedonian (regnal) year <sup>5</sup>

- when Egyptian months and days are used, the correspondence with the so-called Julian Calendar can be established with the help of Skeat's tables, as long as it is realized that the Macedonian year does not completely coincide with the Egyptian one;
- when Macedonian months and days are used, the correspondences for the reign of Ptolemy II can be established with the help of Koenen's tables; <sup>5a</sup> in other cases the Macedonian dates have first to be converted into Egyptian months and days with the help of the 25 year cycle in table 3 <sup>5b</sup> of A. E. SAMUEL, Ptolemaic Chronology, p. 59; <sup>6</sup>
- the year is a lunar year, composed of 12 lunar months of 29 or 30 days; every other year, an extra month, known as an embolimos month, was intercalated; <sup>7</sup>
- the year begins on the day a king comes to the throne: Ptolemy II probably on 25 Dystros; <sup>8</sup> Ptolemy III came to the throne on 25 Dios, so his first year started on 25 Dios = 28 January 246, but, following the Egyptian system, his first year was made to coincide with the last year of his predecessor, by making his second year start on 25 Dystros; <sup>9</sup>
- the Macedonian day starts on the evening before the Egyptian day.

<sup>4</sup> At least, it is evident that the whole month Mecheir is in accounts ascribed to a new Financial year.

<sup>6</sup> Although this calculation does not always agree precisely with the evidence from the texts, it must essentially be correct. As a matter of fact, if the 25 year cycle is used for calculating the Macedonian regnal years of Ptolemy III, the results agree extremely well with the dates which BINGEN, CdÉ 50 (1975) 244-245 deduced from P. Enteux. for year 26 of Ptolemy III and for year 1 of Ptolemy IV. In order to illustrate this, we have extended our tables beyond the period of the Zenon archive to include these years.

<sup>8</sup> That this day fell in the month Dystros is certain (see for example P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.332). The fact that the letter P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.203 was written on 23 Dystros = 30 Phamenoth of year 31 (compare 59.202 and 59.204) and received on 1 Pharmuthi of year 32 points to 24 Dystros as the new-year's day (or to 25 Dystros if the letter was received in the evening)—Koenen (see above note 3a) considers 25 Dystros as the new-year's day.

<sup>9</sup> So Samuel, accepted by UEBEL, Die Kleruchen Ägyptens, p. 15. The evidence from the eponymous priests (whose year of office corresponds of course to the Mac. year) seems to prove that their supposition is correct (see the table on p. 32 in PESTMAN, Chronologie Égyptienne). However, Skeat follows a different system in his recent publication of Zenon-papyri (P. Lond. 7), and so does Koenen (see above note 3a).

Now for us it is sometimes very difficult to know to which kind of year a particular document is dated, for only during the months Thoth-Tybi do the three calendars coincide. In practice the datings must be checked in every document; it is impossible to rely on the dates given by the editors. In general it may be supposed (but it has to be stressed that it is nothing more than a working hypothesis) that

- many Greeks, not only when living in Alexandria, use the Macedonian calendar, either with Macedonian months and days or Egyptian ones;
- many financial documents, accounts, and receipts use the Financial year;
- Egyptian persons and demotic documents generally use the Egyptian year.

Sometimes the text itself provides a clue:

- P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.130, 22-23: Λ λ Περιτίου ἐμβολίμου, Μεχείρ κ̄γ; the year λ must be the Financial year (= the Macedonian year 29) since in the Mac. year λ there was no embolimos month: 15/16 April 256 B.C.
- P. Lond. 7 1938: the letter was written Λ κθ Μεχείρ θ and received Λ κη Δύστρου δ; the year κθ can only be the Financial year, and the year κη the Macedonian one; the letter was therefore written on 2 April 257 and received five days later on 7 April 257.
- P. Col. Zen. 1 10: the dates are respectively Λ κη Φαμενώθ ζ (Egyptian year) and Λ κθ Ξανδικού β (Macedonian year).

Sometimes it may be helpful to compare dates used by the same person on different occasions.<sup>10</sup> On the pages that follow, the evidence with regard to Zenon has been collected. As far as we can ascertain Zenon's method of dating (in his later years this becomes very difficult because his documents are no longer docketed),<sup>11</sup> he himself and his clerks use the Macedonian years in letters and docketed (for the administration of the δωρεά they use of course the Financial year); as for the months, it is remarkable that letters written by (or in the name of) Zenon always bear an Egyptian month; on letters received, at first the Macedonian months and days are used in the docketed (during the travelling period) but as soon as he is established in Philadelphia he uses the Egyptian months and days (at first equated with the Macedonian ones).

Additional observation concerning the years

Apart from various errors in the numbers, there are also instances of numbers that are exactly ten lower than the normal year-numbers (this might point to a different era):

<sup>11</sup> The note on the back of P. Col. Zen. 2 93 belongs, according to the editors, to the address; the dates on the back of P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.834 and P. L. Bat. 20 34 (see note) perhaps indicate when the wine was actually paid out; the letter P. L. Bat. 20 40 bears a docket but it is unlikely that this text belongs to the archive.

It is remarkable that the latest document bearing docketed dates from the year 38, that is, probably, the last year that Zenon stayed on the δωρεά. From that year on, none of the documents received were docketed, either because Zenon no longer judged it necessary, or because he simply no longer had sufficient secretarial assistance, if indeed any at all. It may be noted that in previous years also docketed are sometimes lacking for certain periods, as, for example, in the autumn 251 (year 35), when Zenon was not on the δωρεά but in Alexandria.

- L  $\kappa\epsilon$  instead of L  $\lambda\epsilon$  P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.271 (and perhaps P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.299 and 59.300)
- L  $\kappa\zeta$  instead of L  $\lambda\zeta$  P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.327, 52 (and perhaps P. Mich. Zen. 54, 7, see note) cf. P. Cairo Zen. 2 59.149 where L  $\kappa$  has been changed into L  $\lambda$ .

Additional observation concerning the intercalary months

The extra, or "embolimos" month of the Macedonian calendar was inserted at the end of every other year, after the last complete month and before the month during which the next year began (i.e. before the month during which the anniversary of the king's accession to the throne was celebrated).

Ptolemy II came to the throne on 25 Dystros; therefore, at the end of an intercalary year the month Peritios Embolimos was added after the month Peritios; the odd-numbered regnal years are intercalary (27, 29, 31, etc.).<sup>12</sup>

Ptolemy III came to the throne on 25 Dios; the intercalary month was, therefore, Hyperberetaios Embolimos, inserted between Hyperberetaios and Dios; this was done for the first time in his regnal year 2, when the king had reigned for a complete year; the even-numbered regnal years are intercalary (2, 4, 6, etc.).

Since, however, in reality the Macedonian regnal year no longer began on the anniversary of the king's accession to the throne, but on the day of his predecessor's accession (25 Dystros), at some point the embolimos month was transferred, and Hyperberetaios Embolimos was replaced by Peritios Embolimos (see SB 5 7631; year 20). We do not know if this new system was generally accepted, but that it was the official system is proved by the fact that, although Ptolemy III did not complete his 26th regnal year, it was nevertheless an intercalary year.<sup>13</sup>

Additional observation concerning the months and days

Several types of indication may be found in the documents. For 3 October 256 B.C., for example, corresponding with 16 Loios and 13 Mesore, one might find dates expressed in any of the following forms:

- 1) 16 Loios: the Macedonian month and day;
- 2) 16 Loios = 13 Mesore: the Macedonian month and day with the corresponding Egyptian ones;
- 3) 16 Loios = 16 Mesore: the Macedonian month and day (the Egyptian ones are fictitious); direct equation;

<sup>12</sup> Ptolemy II did not complete his 39th year, which was, therefore, not an intercalary year.

<sup>13</sup> BINGEN, CdÉ 50 (1975) 245, note 1. According to the previous system it would not have been the year 26 (Ptol. III) = year 1 (Ptol. IV) that was intercalary, but the following year 2. It is possible that some people persisted in using the old system under Ptolemy IV also; the date of P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.374 (year 16, Panemos Embolimos) would fit perfectly the reign of Ptolemy IV, if we assume the use of the old system, since this would explain the occurrence of an embolimos month in an even regnal year (compare the beginning of the reign of Ptolemy III) and also the placing of the embolimos month between Panemos and Loios (it is quite possible that Ptolemy IV came to the throne in Loios: the terminus ante quem is 30 Hathyr—scil. 18 Loios—, see BINGEN, CdÉ 50, 1975, 245 n. 3).

- 4) 13 Loios = 13 Mesore: the Egyptian month and day (the Macedonian ones are fictitious); direct equation [a fictitious Macedonian day is sometimes obtained simply by adding ten to the Egyptian day];
- 5) 13 Mesore: the Egyptian month and day.

Thus the letter P. Ryl. 4 560, written on  $\text{L } \lambda \text{ } \Lambda\omega\acute{\iota}\omicron\upsilon \text{ } \iota\zeta \text{ } \text{Μεσορῆ } \iota\gamma$  (dating 2) and received one day later, could bear as a note of its date of reception the date  $\text{L } \lambda \text{ } \Lambda\omega\acute{\iota}\omicron\upsilon \text{ } \iota\delta$  (sic)  $\text{Μεσορῆ } \iota\delta$  (dating 4).

On the pages that follow we present first a series of tables listing the months and certain days of the Egyptian years, the Financial years, and the Macedonian years, placed in parallel columns in order to help the reader to identify the various possibilities for establishing the Julian equivalent of a date occurring in a Greek or Demotic text from Zenon's time. On the pages facing the tables some notes are collected that are of chronological interest. In two instances this chronological information is only a summary of the evidence collected, which has been set out separately, after the tables: the evidence concerning Zenon's stay in Palestine in the years 26-27 (b: p. 264) and that concerning Zenon's journey through the Delta in the years 28-29 (c: p. 264).

c. Date of a letter from Zenon

23 Mesore            14 Oct. 258            P. L. Bat. 20 Suppl. B

2. Personalia

1 Sept. 258	Zenon , who was still in Palestine on 5 March (P. L. Bat. 20 32), is now in Egypt (22 Panemos: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.087, 2)
Oct. 258	Zenon goes to Philadelphia before 5 Oct. (14 Mesore: PSI 6 559*) and is in Krokodilopolis on 26 Oct. (18 Gorpiaios: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.087, 5-6)
Dec. 258-Jan. 257	Zenon in Memphis on 22 Dec. (? 15 Dios: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.087, 11), and Apollonios on 26 Jan. (21 Apellaios: P. Cornell 1, 79-80)
Feb.-April 257	Zenon travelling North of Memphis (see p. 265-266); on 7 April (P. Lond. 7 1938) he is in Leontopolis, and thence he goes north to Mendes, as does Apollonios , who all of a sudden leaves Memphis (see P. Ryl. 4 557 and our Addenda , Chapter IV)
April 257	Zenon comes back to Memphis between 20 April (17 Dystros: P. Mich. Zen. 10) and 23 April (20 Dystros: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.089, 1-2), probably with Apollonios (P. Ryl. 4 557). [It is remarkable that Apollonios was in Memphis, and not in Alexandria, when king Ptolemy II's birthday and accession to the throne were celebrated; cf. also year 31 and 34.]

<sup>15</sup> According to the 25 year cycle (A. E. SAMUEL, Ptolemaic Chronology, table 3 p. 59, year 25) Audnaios has only 29 days.

2. Personalia

- Panakestor* (who has been introduced to Zenon by a lady, probably in Palestine: P. Cairo Zen. 4 59.579) arrives in Philadelphia on 9 May 257 (16 Phamenoth: PSI 5 502, 13); too late, after the departure of Apollonios (and Zenon); assumes the management of the δωρεά;
 — acts as manager of the δωρεά until after 25 April 256 (2 Phamenoth: PSI 5 509);
 — replaced by Zenon before 10 May 256 (18 Dystros = 18 Phamenoth: P. Cairo Zen. I 59.137); — transferred to Memphis before July/Aug. 256 (Daisios, year 30: P. Lond. 7 1963).

Zenon

- May-Dec. 257 — is still in Memphis on 6 May 257, but no longer on 9 May (see Panakestor), and back in Alexandria on 31 May; in June and July he is staying in Alexandria and nearby in Arsinoe (with Apollonios); he is somewhere in the Delta on 13 Oct. (in Athribis?, cf. P. Cairo Zen. I 59.087) and on 2 Dec.: see p. 266-267;
 Jan.-May 256 — is probably near Philadelphia on 27 Jan. 256, since he is there in the second half of Feb. (P. Cairo Zen. I 59.124), recovering from a protracted illness (PSI 4 333; cf. P. Cairo Zen. I 59.135);
 — succeeds Panakestor as manager of the δωρεά between 25 April and 10 May 256: see Panakestor, above.

c. Dates in documents from Zenon

Xandikos		June/July 250	P. Col. Zen. 1 54 (41): draft notes in preparation for a law-suit (since Zenon has not been using the Mac. calendar recently, he does not know the exact Mac. day)
Epeiph	2	22 Aug. 250	PSI 4 371: payment order
Mesore	10(?)	29 Sept. 250	P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.308: letter

2. Personalia

May/June 250	Zenon not in Philadelphia at the beginning of May (Phamenoth year 35: P. Mich. Zen. 52), apparently on account of the law-suit he was preparing in June (Xandikos) against lessees of Apollonios (P. Col. Zen. 1 54); it is not unlikely that he was in Alexandria for this case (see also P. Ryl. 4 563: 23 May 250 or 22 May 249); no dockets are known from this period (cf. p. 217, note 11).
27 June 250	Zenon not very far from Philadelphia on 6 Pachons: P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.299; see also P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.301.
October 250	Zenon intends to make a trip (but cannot obtain a boat: PSI 4 374), probably to Alexandria; apparently this trip is cancelled: see the letters received by Zenon in Philadelphia in Oct. and Nov.
December 250	Zenon is ill and cannot go to Memphis in Hyperberetaios: P. Ryl. 4 565.
22 May 249	Zenon with Apollonios (in Alexandria?, Memphis?) on 1 Pharmuthi of the Mac. year 36 (or on 23 May 250—see above—if the year is the Fin. year 36): P. Ryl. 4 563.

c. Date of a letter from Zenon

Thoth 24 16 Nov. 248 P. L. Bat. 20 Suppl. D

2. Personalialia

Zenon probably received P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.334 on 16 Payni = 5 Aug. 248 and was staying in Alexandria at that time.

Zenon has been dismissed<sup>16</sup> by Apollonios, in year 2 (246/245) at the latest, but probably in year 38 (248/247): P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.832, 4-5. His dismissal in year 38 would concur with the fact that no docket are known from later years (see above p. 217 note 11); so the terminus post quem is Nov./Dec. 248 (latest certain date of a docket). On the other hand, we know from P. Col. Zen. 2 76 that Zenon's successor Eukles entered upon his duties before 15 December 247.

<sup>16</sup> Notwithstanding his dismissal Zenon receives in the following years his sitometria from the dorea (Reekmans, Sitométrie, p. 97 no. 157).

λθ year 39 of Ptolemy II
 α year 1 of Ptolemy III

247/246

Ptolemy II did not complete the 39th year of his reign; Peritios Embolimos was not intercalated between Peritios and Dystros, because Ptolemy II had already been succeeded by Ptolemy III on 25 Dios = 28 Jan. 246. On that day Ptolemy III's first Egyptian, Financial, and Macedonian year started; they all three lasted up to the day which would have been the last day of the 39th Egyptian, Financial, and Macedonian year (this is common practice under the Egyptian system, but an innovation for the Macedonian one: a further step on the road which ultimately led to the assimilation of the Macedonian year to the Egyptian one).

η year 8 240/239

P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.371 contains the latest dated letter which is addressed to Zenon; the letter is written on 9 Mecheir of year 8 = 29 March, probably of year 240. This document is the latest document which Zenon filed in his archive; soon afterwards he apparently handed over all his papers to somebody else (see Chapter VI p. 182).

It is not known in which year the intercalary month Hyperberetaios Embolimos (attested in year 4) was replaced by Peritios Embolimos (attested in year 20); see p. 218.

ις year 16 232/231

P. Cairo Zen. 3 59.374, mentioning the month Panemos Embolimos as an intercalary month for the year 16, probably dates from the reign of Ptolemy IV, and so does not belong to the archive of Zenon (see above p. 218 note 13).

ιη year 18 230/229

The latest document mentioning Zenon is P. L. Bat. 20 Suppl. E: 28 Choiak = 14 Feb. 229; the text deals with taxes which Zenon owes for the year 16.

t0 year 19 229/228

The latest document from the Zenon archive is C. Ord. Ptol. 28, a copy of a royal decree promulgated in Panemos = Nov./Dec. 229.

The tables on the facing pages have been extended up to the beginning of the reign of Ptolemy IV, in order to show that the 25 year cycle, which is the basis of these tables, can be used to calculate the Macedonian regnal years, not only for the reign of Ptolemy II, but also for the reign of Ptolemy III. As a matter of fact our calculated dates for the year 26 = 1 (222/221) agree surprisingly well with the dates which BINGEN (CdÉ 50, 1975, 244-245) collected from a substantial group of texts.

x year 20 228/227

According to SB 5 7631 (which does not belong to the Zenon archive) the intercalary month in this year was Peritios Embolimos. Thus the intercalation had been changed since the year 4 when the intercalary month was still Hyperberetaios Embolimos (see p. 218). For the document P. L. Bat. 20 40 and its date see the edition, note l. 11.

α year 1 of Ptolemy IV

Compare our dates, calculated on the basis of the 25 year cycle, with the evidence collected from a group of texts by BINGEN, CdÉ 50 (1975) 244-245.

Ptolemy IV probably came to the throne between 29 Dec. 222 (1 Loios) and 15 Jan. 221 (30 Hathyr), see p. 218 note 13.

b. ZENON IN PALESTINE IN THE YEARS 26 AND 27

260-258

Departure from Egypt

Zenon is about to leave for Palestine on 23 Nov. 260 (25 Hyperberetaios, year 26: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.002); cf. P. Mich. Zen. 2: list of provisions.

Journey through Judaea and Galilea

The journey started on the coast at Stratonos Pyrgos (Caesarea), probably shortly before 1 Feb. 259 (6 Audnaios, year 26: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.004, 16); the party travelled via Jerusalem and Jericho to the territory of Toubias, where they arrived on 24 April 259 (29 Dystros, year 27: P. Lond. 7 1930, 176) and where Zenon bought a slave-girl in April/May 259 (Xandikos, year 27: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.003): at Birta, near 'Arak el-Amir.

Then the party turned North, passed through Qadesh, and reached the coast again at Ptolemaïs (Acre), on, or shortly after, the latest date mentioned in P. Cairo 1 59.004 (line 77): the 28th of an unknown month, which is generally considered to be Xandikos (28 Xandikos = 23 May 259), but is more likely to be Artemisios, judging by the distance from the territory of Toubias to Ptolemaïs (28 Artemisios = 21 June 259).

See for the itinerary ABEL, Revue Biblique 32 (1923) 414 and SKEAT, P. Lond. 7 1930, commentary and notes. Texts: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.004; P. Lond. 7 1930; cf. P. Cairo Zen. 5 59.802.

Journey through Idumaea

P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.006; TSCHERIKOWER, Mizraim 4-5 (1937) 59-60.

Return to Egypt

Zenon was in Palestine on 5 March 258 (19 Peritios, year 27), when he received in Qadesh the letter P. L. Bat. 20 32, but we do not know if he was still there on 4 April 258 (20 Peritios Embolimos, year 27: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.018).

He was called back by Apollonios (cf. PSI 4 322, date lost); we do not know for what reason, but in Palestine it was thought that he would return (P. Col. Zen. 2 66, 9). On this occasion several slaves ran away: P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.051 V°; 5 59.804.

Shortly after his departure P. Lond. 7 2141 (not dated) was written in Palestine, and P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.015 V° (not dated), by Zenon himself, in Egypt. The first certain date for Zenon's presence in Egypt is 1 Sept. 258 (P. Cairo Zen. 1 59.087, 1-2).

Bibliography: see P. L. Bat. 20 32.

c. JOURNEY THROUGH THE DELTA IN THE YEARS 28 AND 29

258-256

In the years 28 and 29 several trips were made through the Delta by Apollonios and his entourage, and by Zenon. We do not know when Zenon joined the travelling-party, nor if, subsequently, he always travelled in its company (it is possible that he was absent from time to time—as was Apollonios: P. Lond. 7 p. 14 bottom). For the movements of Apollonios and Zenon in March-April 257, see our Addenda to P. Ryl. 4 557 (Chapter IV).

PERSONAL NAMES

IX

PROSOPOGRAPHY *

This Prosopography is an index of persons and at the same time an index of personal names. Both onomastical and prosopographical information is given for each name included.

1° Onomastical

For every name the language to which it belongs is indicated: Gr(eek), Eg(yptian), Semitic, Persian, Thracian, etc. As a rule this classification is based on the following general works, not cited in the Prosopography itself.

Gr.: F. BECHTEL, Die historischen Personennamen des griechischen bis zur Kaiserzeit, Halle 1917 (photostatic reprint, Hildesheim, 1964).

Gr.-Mac.: I. I. RUSSU, Onomasticon Macedonicum, Appendix to Macedonica, Ephemeris Daco-romana, 8, 1938, pp. 163-221.

Eg.: F. PREISIGKE, Namenbuch enthaltend alle griechischen, lateinischen, ägyptischen, hebräischen, arabischen und sonstigen semitischen und nichtsemitischen Menschennamen; soweit sie in griechischen Urkunden (Papyri, Ostraka, Inschriften, Mumien-schildern usw.) Ägyptens sich vorfinden, Heidelberg, 1922 (reprint, Amsterdam, 1967).
D. FORABOSCHI, Onomasticon alterum papyrologicum, Supplemento al Namenbuch di F. Preisigke, Testi e documenti per lo studio dell'Antichità 16, Milano, 1971.

Both these works list all proper names attested in Egypt, not only the Egyptian ones. There is no special lexicon for Egyptian names in Greek transcription.

Semitic: H. WUTHNOW, Die Semitischen Menschennamen in griechischen Inschriften und Papyri des vorderen Orients, Studien zur Epigraphik und Papyruskunde, I, 4, Leipzig, 1930.

S. M. RUOZZI SALA, Lexicon nominum Semiticorum quae in papyris graecis in Aegypto repertis ab anno 323 a. Ch. n. usque ad annum 70 p. Ch. n. laudata reperiuntur, Testi e documenti per lo studio dell'Antichità 46, Milano, 1974.

Thracian: D. DEČEW, Die Thrakischen Sprachreste, Österreichische Akademie der Wissenschaften, Philosophisch-historische Klasse, Schriften der Balkan-Kommission, Linguistische Abt. XIV, Wien, 1957.

Asia Minor: L. ZGUSTA, Kleinasiatische Personennamen, Československá Akademie Věd. Monografie Orientálního Ústavu, ČSAV, 19, Prag, 1964.

Names that we know from only one passage or for only one person are labelled "hapax legomenon". Most names in this group are of unsure reading and/or interpretation.

* For a list of the names in the demotic texts, see p. 454-457.

Among them there is no doubt a series of ghost-names,<sup>1</sup> but also several authentic names which deserve a more thorough study.<sup>2</sup> The indication "hapax legomenon" may draw attention to these names and lead scholars to investigate them by checking the originals, by pointing out other instances of the name which were unknown to us, or by explaining them etymologically.

Some Egyptian and quite a number of Greek names are limited to, or typical of one or two areas. We did not have time to consult systematically the scientific literature on the geographical distribution of personal names, but we have used it whenever it was known to us.<sup>3</sup> Often mention has been made of the Bulletin épigraphique of J. and L. ROBERT in the Revue des études grecques, but we did not take into account purely linguistic or etymological studies, because these are of no immediate importance for our knowledge of the people in the archive.

Greek transcription of Egyptian names was not standardized and therefore many Egyptian names occur under different forms in Greek.<sup>4</sup> We have noted each variant under its proper alphabetical place, each time with reference to all other variant forms. References to the texts are given separately for each variant, with one exception: where we felt sure that one person was indicated by two or more variant forms of a name, the references have been grouped together in order not to split up the passages dealing with one person. This has necessitated an arbitrary distinction between:

var. = variant form used for the same person in different passages. All references are under the same heading.

cf. = other variant forms, listed in their proper alphabetical places.

2° Prosopographical

We have tried to distinguish between homonymous persons as far as possible, chiefly on the basis of family relationships, origin and occupation. If known these types of evidence are indicated in the Prosopography.

We have of course continually taken into account the chronological range of the testimonies, but we have refrained from indicating the date after each reference. This would have been very cumbersome and often impossible; the known dates can easily be found in Chapter VII b. Moreover the Zenon archive as a whole covers only a limited period, and chronological criteria are therefore of minor importance in distinguishing homonyms. The archive falls into two easily distinguishable parts: until 256, Zenon is <sup>1</sup> While composing our list we have ourselves exposed several ghost-names, which have to be deleted from the lexica, such as Αιευς, Αλλλος (see P. L. Bat. 20 63. 22), Απιμενης (see Stud. Hell. 24, 1980, p. 116 and n. 1), Αυνιας, Αυτομαχος, Ζαβαλνος, Ισινοει, Κλεοδοτης, Κτηλλεω, Λαβος, Νηρευς, Οαφιης, Πααγγις (see P. L. Bat. 20 17. 7), etc.

<sup>2</sup> It comes as a surprise that names like Maimachos and Panakestor, which appear rather frequently in our documents, are limited to one person only and do not seem to occur elsewhere. The name of the chrematist Peton is probably not Egyptian, as has sometimes been suggested, but Greek; unfortunately we could not find this name outside the Zenon archive.

<sup>3</sup> We wish to thank prof. O. Masson for his expert advice on several Greek names. Prof. E. Lipinski (Leuven) has helped us with the differentiation of Semitic names. For the Egyptian names we have frequently consulted dr. J. Quaegebeur.

travelling in Palestine and then in Lower Egypt; from 256 onwards he is resident at Philadelphia, first as administrator of the dorea and later as a private person. Only exceptionally can a person be demonstrated to appear on or to disappear from the scene within one of these two periods.

The place of residence, if known, is only given if it is not Philadelphia or more generally the Arsinoite nome. The geographical evidence can be of prime importance in distinguishing homonyms. Quite often we have grouped the evidence for a name in Palestine under a separate heading, partly based on the list "les rapports du cercle d'Apolônios et de Zénôn avec l'étranger" in Pros. Ptol. VI, pp. 193-211.

The order in which homonyms are listed is based first on filiation (1. son of — —; 2. father of — —) and secondly on occupation. Here we have followed the order of the Prosopographia Ptolemaica. At the end of each entry we have grouped under the heading "unidentified persons" all references which did not yield enough information to be classified as a separate person or to be identified with one of the known bearers of the name.

We would also like to preface the following explanatory remarks:

- 1' The classification of homonymous persons is based in most cases on scattered notes by our predecessors. Anyone who wishes to make a thorough investigation into one or more persons must check the comments of the editors of the papyri (those of C. C. EDGAR and T. C. SKEAT have been especially useful to us) and of the authors of various studies (e.g. the Prosopographia Ptolemaica, the works of M. ROSTOVITZ, C. PRÉAUX, T. REEKMANS<sup>5</sup> and F. UEBEL, the articles of ANNA ŚWIDEREK, EVA WIPSZYCKA and others). We have not, as a rule, indicated the origin of the proposed identifications, the more so since we often had to make a choice between conflicting opinions by a renewed study of the texts.
- 2' We have preferred to create too many headings rather than too few. If a man performed two very different functions at the same time, or if he changed his occupation from one period to another,<sup>6</sup> our sources usually present him as two homonymous persons and only exceptionally do we get a hint at their identity.<sup>7</sup> The same holds true for some people who are attested with patronymic and ethnic but without any indication of their occupation or office in one text (e.g. as a witness) and with only name and occupation or office in another. Only if their name is a rather rare one does it become possible to identify them.
- 3' It goes without saying that this Prosopography is not a definitive work. It is only a starting-point for thorough prosopographical investigations. As far as possible we have tried to indicate what is certain, what is probable, and what is only possible. A serious imperfection in our method derives from the scarcity of available photographs which might have allowed identifications by means of the handwriting. The only scholar who had access to several major collections was C. C. Edgar, but even he had often to rely on his memory for texts which were widely separated. A photographic documentation of all Zenon papyri would not only allow us to make new joins, it would be a fresh source for prosopographical research.

<sup>6</sup> A typical example is Zenon himself, who was first a private agent of the dioiketes in Palestine and Egypt, and later became the manager of a large estate in Philadelphia, running at the same time several personal enterprises, for example in tax-farming.

<sup>7</sup> As in the case of Herianouphis, where P. Lond. 7 2007 makes it highly probable that the sailor (ναύτης) and the swineherd (βοφωρβός) of this name are in fact one and the same person.

- 4' The references to the Prosopographia Ptolemaica are helpful for several reasons.
- A comparison between the Prosopographia Ptolemaica and our Prosopography makes it possible to find the basic references for each person (i.e. those where he occurs with a title or holding an office: only these are listed in the systematic section of the Prosopographia Ptolemaica) and those which we have attributed to the same person as a result of our prosopographical research.
  - Our list does not go beyond the Zenon archive. For persons who are also known outside the archive (e.g. eponymous officers, eponymous priests, government officials), the "exterior" references can easily be found in the Prosopographia Ptolemaica.
  - As the Prosopographia Ptolemaica is arranged by occupation, the references to it provide the means to view each person found in the archive, within the administrative and occupational structure of Ptolemaic Egypt.

Σώστρατος (Gr.)<sup>17</sup>

dem. Ssrts (P. dem. Zen. 22 col. 1. 4)

<sup>17</sup> It is very difficult to distinguish between the different persons bearing this name if their family relationship or their function is not explicitly given in the text. The Prosopographia Ptolemaica collects nearly all the evidence under IV 11760. The above scheme is very tentative and a good deal of the "unidentified persons" are no doubt identical with no. 3 or 2.

SYMBOLS AND ABBREVIATIONS

The following list gives a survey of symbols and abbreviations occurring in the published texts belonging to the Zenon archive. Whenever possible, they have been checked against photographs or the original text and I am grateful to W. J. Tait and R. S. Bagnall for checking abbreviations and drawing facsimiles in the British Library and in the library of Columbia University respectively.

For a recent study of this subject, see A. BLANCHARD, Sigles et abréviations dans les papyrus documentaires grecs: Recherches de paléographie, London 1974 (University of London. Bulletin of the Institute of Classical Studies. Supplement No. 30).

<sup>1</sup> The greater part of the Zenon material has not yet been indexed in Preisigke's Wörterbuch, and therefore we have entered words in this index in the forms in which they appear in LSJ<sup>9</sup> and Supplement. In a number of cases, cross-references have been given from words that are more familiar in the papyri.

Rejected words and new readings listed above in Chapter IV, Addenda and corrigenda to the texts, have been marked with an asterisk (*).
