Aristoklis Effendi was born in Hasköy (Gr: Πικρίδιο) in 1832. He was the son of Dimitraki, a merchant.

Hasköy is a district in Istanbul (Constantinople) located on the northern shores of the Golden Horn opposite the Fener (Φανάρι) district. Before the fall of Constantinople to the Turks, Hasköy was called Picridio. It was renamed Hasköy after the fall.

Aristoklis served on the Ottoman Assembly of Education and was a teacher of Science for 15 years at the Mekteb-i Mülkiye-i Şahane (Imperial School of Political Science). He was also a professor of Ethnography.

He graduated from the Merchant School on the island of Heybeliada (Gr: Halki) and the Ksirokrini (Gr: Ξηροκρήνη, today Kuruçeşme) Greek School in the Beşiktaş district of Istanbul.

Note: Effendi was a title of respect used to address a man of social standing within the Ottoman Empire. He died in Constantinople.
